

Luciano López Jáuregui

Luciano López Jáuregui received a degree in Chemistry from the University of Buenos Aires (UBA), School of Sciences, Argentina (2000), and a degree in Business Administration from IAE - School of Business, Argentina (2005). He made a Master in Food Science and Technology from the UBA, School of Sciences (2005). In 2011 he received a second Master's degree in Food Science and Technology from the "Masters Program in Agro-food FAUBA - UniParma", agreement between the University of Parma, Italy, and the UBA, School of Agronomics, Argentina.

Since 1998 he develops his professional career at Molinos Río de la Plata, an Argentine company. He works as Director of R & D since 2011.